PUTNAM

Harry Charles Meinken, one of the owners and the business manager of the Windham County Observer, published in this city, died at his home on Freeman street Friday morning just before two o'clock. He had been ill for several weeks, death being caused by pneumonia.

The announcement of Mr. Meinken's death came as a great surprise to many people of the city. He had been very ill, but recently his condition had become very serious and during the evening it became evident that the end was near at hand.

Mr. Meinken was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., May 24, 1888, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Meinken. He attended the public and high schools of Brooklyn and later was a student at the Princeton Preparatory school.

Seven years ago, in October, 1911, Mr. Meinken came to this city and in association with George L. Padgett, who has since continued in business with him, purchased the Observer publishing business, which has since been expanded and successfully conducted. Throughout his residence here Mr. Meinken had been the business manager of the paper. Mr. Padgett devoting his attention to editorial work.

Mr. Meinken quickly attracted attention in this city and in a very short time was recognized as one of the city's most alert and active young business men. He identified himself with many enterprises of a public spirited nature and was an earnest worker in Putnam's Chamber of Commerce. During the war he had given much time to Red Cross work and to other activities in aid of the government.

He was of splendid physique, a fact that has made his death seem strange to all who knew him, but he had been so ill for weeks that his strength had #### ebbed.

At Brooklyn, N. Y., in October, 1912, Mr. Meinken married Miss Estelle McCarrill, who survives him. Mr. Meinken also leaves his parents, a brother, Ernest A., who has been in Putnam during Mr. Meinken's illness, and three sisters.

Mr. Meinken was a member of the Second Congregational church of this city and had taken much interest in the Boy Scout work being done in the city. He had had military experience, being for three and a half years a member of Squadron C of the New York state cavalry.

Mr. Meinken's body was taken to New York Friday afternoon on the train leaving this city after 3 o'clock. As a mark of respect, business was suspended here from 3 to 3:30 o'clock.

Following a meeting of those charged with doing the organization work for the united war work drive it was announced Friday morning that Edward W. Mullan had been elected chairman and Arthur L. Duvert secretary. The district organization has been perfected as follows: District chairman, Henry H. Exenport; Pomfret vice chairman, H. Chester Greenleaf; North Grosvenordale, secretary, Ralph S. Bradford; treasurer, Hon. Charles H. Brown; speakers' chairman, Hon. Herbert H. Bowen; Woodstock publicity, Edward W. Mullan; corporations, Arthur D. Low; industrial, Alexander Gilman; boys and girls, William L. MacDonald; campaign director, Judge Frank F. Russell. Putnam town organization—Chairman, Alexander Gilman; vice chairman, J. Richard Carpenter; secretary, Ralph S. Bradford; treasurer, Hon. Charles H. Brown; speakers' chairman, Edward W. Mullan; publicity, D. S. Smith; corporations, Arthur D. Low; industrial, John B. Daigle; boys and girls, William L. MacDonald; campaign director, Judge Frank F. Russell. The Putnam district includes Abington, Eastford, Grosvenordale, Pomfret, Thompson, Woodstock.

Girls who have been in the limelight heretofore in this city again furnish material for news. Mrs. W. J. Bartlett stated Friday afternoon that she had just received a messenger from the office of the Girls' Protective League of New York stating that Miss Ethel Hewett, also known as Ethel Wilcox, was held there as a person without name and without means of support. The league requested information relative to Miss Hewett, who disappeared from here in August, when she went to

Camp Merritt, she stated before getting out of this district, to meet a soldier sweetheart who had written her from camp, but she did not meet him, and all trace of her was lost up to Friday.

Another girl, Pearl Warren, who some months ago was committed to the industrial school for girls at Middletown and who escaped from there on a recent evening, at the prayer hour, continues to be sought hereabouts. She left the institution in company with Catherine Geer, and last Sunday they reported at the Cutler farm, near this city. Since then all trace of them has been lost.

Still another girl who claims Putnam as her home and who has been missing—Glady's Gill—has been located in New York and returned to the industrial school for girls at Middletown.

In Friday's casualty lists there appeared the name of Private Arthur Beaulieu, Canal street, Putnam, wounded in action. Private Beaulieu, the local board records show, is listed as a delinquent. He registered here on June 5, 1917, but never returned to the service, and the assumption is that he entered the service as a volunteer soon after he registered.

Rev. Hector Decelles, pastor of St. Anne's church, Park street, Hartford, died at St. Francis' hospital in that city Friday. He had been ill with pneumonia and was taken to the hospital Wednesday of this week. Father Decelles was assistant at St. Joseph's church, North Grosvenordale, for a period of six years, and in 1912 he was transferred from St. Joseph's at Hartford to succeed Rev. Charles F. Bedard, who was coming to Putnam as pastor of St. Mary's church. Father Decelles was born in Canada, but the family moved to North Grosvenordale during the years in which he was engaged in his studies for the priesthood and his mother and two sisters, Miss Rose Decelles and Mrs. Arthur Manville, are still resident there. Father Decelles was 37 years of age. Arrangements for the funeral had not been completed Friday. Father Decelles was a frequent visitor during the years he was stationed at North Grosvenordale.

Captain Fee, in charge of the Salvation army work in Putnam, is confined to his home by illness. Lieut. Eva Platt of South Manchester, formerly stationed in Putnam, came here Friday to give some attention to the work but will be unable to continue it owing #### to the condition of her health.

Mrs. Jane Fraser, 55, wife of William Fraser, died at her home here Friday. Mrs. Fraser had been in poor health for a number of weeks. The body will be forwarded to Bangor, Me., for burial.

Peter Lamothe of Goodyear died from pneumonia early Friday morning at the Day Kimball hospital here.
